

MIGRATION

IS NOT A CRIME

“Many died, but they were the wrong kind of dead. Fortress Europe does not want to know what’s happening on its shores; it doesn’t want to accept people are dying, daily, because of co-ordinated draconian immigration laws, many drawn up in a spirit of populism rather than humanity. The dead were acting illegally and they were black. And no one cared.” (The Observer, January 1997)
